THE BREATH OF THE INFINITE.

It cometh from the East—the wintry plain
Softens beneath the tender touch of rain.

It cometh from the West, and hoary vines
Pour out of rounded cups the richest wines.

It comes from the North, and finest lace
Is woven to cover shivered Nature's face.

It comes from the South, and all the soul
Blossoming, saith: "It is the breath of God."

BRIDES AT NIAGARA.

The Turtle Dove Couples at the Hymeneal Mecca.—A Mischievous Bride in a Side-board.

A correspondent writing from Niagara Falls says: "Shortly after breakfast yesterday morning I strolled out from the Clifton to the end of the Horseshoe Fall to watch a log that had caught in a back eddy, and was slowly making its way again to the verge of the chasm. Just to the left of me, and looking down on one of the most majestic and awful views that the place affords, was the inevitable couple, his arm about her waist and his other hand in hers. Hackney, was close beside, narrating in his professional monotone how, in the cool gray light of a morning long ago, a beautiful but unfortunate girl walked quietly out to the edge of the rock, stood there for a moment with the wind tossing the white folds of her night gown and the tangled ringlets of her disheveled hair, and then leaped with the strength of despair clear out into the void beyond, and disappeared in the hell of boiling waters at the foot of the fall. There was a moment's pause as the story ended, but no doubt as to what should follow—it was foreordained from the first—and the two mouths came together with the usual chirp and the usual blush. I turned away in sadness and passed on. But perhaps the most amusing spectacle of this Hymeneal Mecca can be witnessed in the corridors of any of the great hotels, from 9:30 to 11:30 of any evening during the season. Generally, so as to be in time, I ascend to about the third floor, and take up your post of observation in some convenient embrasure—say in the window at the end of the hall. The half-hour will hardly have struck when door after door will open in quick succession, and a young man will emerge sneakingly from his 'dressing portal,' give a quick glance over his shoulder, and then walk leisurely up and down with a don't-care-a-damn expression on his face, that is, indecisibly, indifferently. One moment he simper shamefacedly at his fellow-sufferers who pass him in their march, and another glares savagely at the carpet, the walls, and the ceiling, as if spoiling for a fight. But all the time he is looking anxiously at his watch, until a half hour has passed slowly away, when he steals hastily back to his door, knocks and enters, where necessity compels us to leave him. The explanation is simple—he has been sent out while the young and inexperienced madam disrobes herself. He is ashamed to go down stairs, and so he watches out the vigil in the hall.

On one joyful and ne'er-to-be-forgotten occasion—the first of the many times that I have sought to console myself for the woes of bachelorhood by this pitiable sight—I was called in to assist at the re-union after the half-hour had elapsed. A groom, bigger and madder than the average, had hardly re-entered his nuptial chamber, when he re-appeared with direct alarm and consternation depicted in his countenance. His room was the end one in the hall, and my face the first one to meet his agonized glance.

"Are you one of the hotel men?" he gasped.

"I am, sir," I replied, with that innate truthfulness that characterized the descendants of George Washington.

"Well, sir, my wife has gone, and I'll have her, sir, if I search every room in your cursed old shanty."

In vain I sought to console the agitated youth and check the current of profanity that coursed with Niagara's own rush and roar from his trembling lips. In vain I assured him that it was not customary for wives to run away so early in their marital life, and that there was not a case on record of one's quitting her bed and board before the expiration of the honeymoon. It was useless—he would not be comforted—till finally, purely out of the philanthropy of an unselfish heart, I suggested that he let me assist him in examining his room for traces of the missing bride. He at once assented, and threw open the door.

I entered with voiceless reverence. No human beings but ourselves were visible. In the corner, piled upon a chair, were the ordinary articles of a woman's apparel. The smaller and more mysterious garments carefully hidden under the larger. In the bed was a mock form, composed of a pillow and a flannel shirt, which the warmth of the alarmed husband had ruthlessly and immediately exposed. I took the situation in at a glance.

There was evidently nothing under the bed—that is, nothing of any consequence—for it came too near the floor. There were no closets in the room, no other doors, and nothing behind which one could hide. There was, however, what the French call a boyfet, with shelves at the top and folding doors at the bottom. I gauged the thing in my mind's eye, and concluded there was just room enough for a flexible little woman without much clothing to squeeze in. This was the work of but an instant's observation, and then I spoke with my mouth sharply:

"Young man, you have made an ass of yourself. Go to that sideboard and find her."

Without waiting for me to hide my blushes behind the door, he opened the boyfet with a bound, and there, nestled amid a cloud of fleecy white, and covered with laughter and blushes, was the prettiest little rosebud of a face that ever gleamed out of lace and linen. Sadly and remorsefully I passed out of the chamber door, leaving the rosebud to its fate. Let us hope that the poor little woman held her own.

Have You Ever Seen Jones?

It was only two days ago Jones was injudiciously full. Feeling painfully aware of his ineptitude, he endeavored to conceal it from the public by building his coat up very closely, imparting an abnormal stiffness to the knees, and tripping over his own heels. He stalked on to a street car, walked briskly in as the horses started forward—and instantly tumbled up backward without unbending a muscle. Straightway he recovered the upright, splashed with mud, and re-entered, sending himself beside an acquaintance, making no sign of his mishap. Presently he turned to an individual and queried:

"Klism?"

"No."

He considered a moment, and then asked:

"Ofletrak?"

"No."

More reflection—sleepily, then:

"Runoverprespie?"

"No."

"Splozhn?"

"No."

Somnolent cogitation.

"Any acc'dent?"

"Not at all."

He took this piece of information into his intellectual maw, and digesting it, concluded that he must be very drunk indeed. Anxious to cover up the disgraceful fact, and turn the matter off respectfully, he shortly turned again with the bland observation:

"Well, if I'd anong that I woodena got out."

He blinked off into an unconscious state in a little while, when woke up with his eyes very wide open to show that he had only been thinking. He rode on about a mile beyond his street, and was finally taken home in a hack.

Did you ever see Jones?

"—Little Johnny wanted to go to church. His mother was afraid he would make a noise, but his father said, 'Johnny knows better than to make a noise in church.' So he went. He kept very still till the last prayer. By that time he had grown tired of sitting still, and was standing on the pew cushion with his back to the pulpit. When the lady in the next seat bowed her head for prayer, Johnny thought she was crying, and said to the lady in a tone which was meant for a whisper, but which was only too plainly heard, 'Poor lady! What ee matter? Do oo stummut ahee?'

—A Utica paper says that the Clear-field fair consists of a calf and a pumpkin. It rained so hard the first night afterwards that the goose swam off, the calf broke loose and ate the pumpkin, and a chief prowling around stole the calf, and that ended the fair.

SATURDAY, JULY 25, 1874
Served by Carriers, 5 cts per Week

TO POSTAL AGENT AMERMAN.

On more than one occasion have we alluded to the need of a Sunday mail between Oakland and San Francisco, yet no attention seems to be paid to this just demand. Our remarks on the subject heretofore were made during Barstow's administration, and it is possible that as he was about to give up the office, he could afford to slight this important matter. Mr. Amerman ought now to be fairly installed, and we herewith ask his immediate attention to the subject in question.

There is no excuse whatever for this state of things, yet it has prevailed ever since the overland railroad was completed and Oakland "took on" all the city airs in the catalogue. There may have been a little excuse for this slow-coach business previous to that, but since then there has been none whatever. Every Sunday evening the overland mail for Oakland is brought up from the train and the vehicle that carries this could without extra trouble, take a mail for San Francisco down from this office. The extra trouble of putting up this mail cannot be very much, considering that the Postmaster and clerks are present to attend to the incoming mails at that time. But the fact of the urgent need of an outgoing mail, overbalances such considerations. It is not unlikely that the pay of the clerks in the Oakland office is small in comparison with rates for labor in San Francisco, but this is a matter for the Postmaster and department to settle among themselves.

The public is unjustly deprived of postal facilities, and we propose to right this matter, if there be any virtue in printer's ink. As the case stands, the Oakland public cannot send a letter away between Saturday evening at half-past six, and ten o'clock on Monday morning. Everybody knows that Sunday is a letter-writing day among all classes, and besides there are hundreds of business men who would like to communicate with parties in San Francisco in time for the carrier delivery of Monday morning. Then, again, mail matter for the extreme coast routes is liable to a hitch or delay of one day more, and altogether the matter assumes the phase of a long-standing outrage on the Oakland public—a community estimated at twenty thousand people.

Oakland is entitled to a first-class postoffice in every particular. It is the duty of the agent to immediately look into the case on all the points herewith alluded to. Congressman Page is now within easy hearing distance of this condition of things, and let him also make a note of it.

The liquor men of Oakland are said to be getting up a black list, placing up in the windows of all the saloons a list of names. In various ways these persons will be annoyed in their business and whenever an opportunity offers they will be held up to public ridicule.—News.

The black list above referred to exists only in the diseased imagination of the disagreeable party who conducts the editorial columns of the News. That insignificant cuss has exerted himself, in his silly, feeble way to create strife and hard feeling among citizens in this city ever since the election. For this purpose, he has lied like truth unceasingly. The only persons who are likely to be held up to ridicule are such frauds as that idiot and his prototype "Hell-fire Jack," and they deserve to be ridiculed and denounced, because they are not sincere in their professions.

It is said that parties who have gone to the expense of erecting buildings and providing accommodations for the University students at Berkeley will protest in the courts against the Regents setting up opposition boarding and lodging houses. These people claim that the Regents have no right to use the University grounds except for strictly educational purposes. The Board of Regents propose to go on and erect the students' club-houses without authority expecting to be reimbursed by the next legislature. Possibly the Grangers may go back on them, in which event the Regents will have an opportunity to make an individual donation to the University of the cost of the buildings.

COUNTY SCHOOL MATTERS.
Superintendent Lynch informs us that all the schools throughout the county will be in complete running order by next Monday—the first time this has ever occurred so early after vacation.
There are thirty-seven districts, and one hundred and five teachers altogether—only twenty-two of whom are of the male gender.
Trouble is experienced in getting good teachers in the country districts; as soon as a teacher becomes well qualified, he or she gravitates toward the city, where wages seem to be better.

To remedy a defect in the public system, the State Superintendent prevailed upon the last Legislature to enact a law giving each district $500 more school funds, whereby districts with only a few pupils can be enabled to carry on a school at all. For instance, Midway district only contains nine pupils, Stonybrook eight, and so forth, hence the equalization of taxes in question. The new law is now about to go into effect.

The County Building question is still being agitated. So far as the extra cost for additional excavation is concerned, Mr. Babcock informed us to-day that he intended to offer the Board of Supervisors $1,000 next Monday to take the job off his hands; that he will have to lose at least that much as the case stands. He will probably be allowed to go on with the entire work without further tinkering. There has been about enough talk on the subject—what is wanted now is a Court-house and jail. That there appeared to be some looseness about the specifications and letting of contracts, all know; but as the Grand Jury failed to find any serious fault, it is scarcely worth while to cry over affairs now. Milk enough has been spilled already. The Free-stone people should cease troubling, and the rest of the people will remember the Board of Supervisors first and last. Republics are not ungrateful.

Vasquez is a lion in San Jose whether he has been removed. A caged lion. There is such a demand to see the outlaw that the Sheriff has set apart Tuesdays and Fridays as Vasquez reception days. Last Tuesday there were only 470 people visited the villain, but then the weather was unpleasant and there were but few people in town. San Jose resembles Oakland somewhat in the matter of liberally patronizing free shows.

The authorities of Nevada City are inclined to discourage cleanliness on the part of the inhabitant of that town. A man was recently arrested and fined $50 for bathing in the reservoir from which the city water was obtained—the thermometer standing 100 degrees in the shade at the time!

The church folk are to blame for the everlasting Tilton-Beecher business. They have tried white-washing till the case has at last assumed such aggravating proportions that the civil authorities stand a chance of ending the affair effectually.

TRIBUTE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Orders may be left at the Cigar Store of Walter Smith, southwest corner of Broadway and Seventh streets. At the Cigar Store of E. M. Campbell, Ninth street, three doors above the Postoffice. And at the publication office, 461 Ninth street, up-stairs.

Festival Last Night. The ladies had a successful fair at the First Presbyterian Church, and good time all round.

Base Ball To-Day. The Occidentals and the Grand Central Nine are matched at base ball to-day, on the ground near Tabbs' hotel.

All Persons Who Wish. To purchase Real Estate, can get some splendid bargains by calling immediately at E. J. Kelly's Real Estate Office, 414 Seventh street, Oakland.

Murder and Suicide. And all such sensational stuff don't attract people any more; the only topic now is, how can Harris Bros. sell their splendid suits so cheap. They do it, anyhow.

Hook and Ladder Truck. The Foreman of Hook and Ladder Company gives notice elsewhere that the Truck of the company is at present housed in Music Hall building, Sixth street, between Broadway and Washington street.

Religious Services To-morrow. Excepting that the Adventists will baptize some converts in Lake Merritt, the usual services will be held by the regular pastors at the Oakland churches to-morrow. The Rev. Hamilton's text is entitled, "The Choice—Beast or Man." Rev. Lafferty, of the Baptist church, has this subject: "The Ideal of Christian Experience."

Local Option Victory. The prayers of the righteous have been answered, and one of those whisky-drinking Nevada towns has gone under. A water-spout yesterday is reported as having drowned to death twenty-six persons in Eureka and done incalculable damage generally. The telegraph operator escaped to the hills and made connection with the wires. We told you so.

Picnic To-morrow. The picnic of the Lumbermen's Protective Association takes place to-morrow at Badger's Park. The friends will be devoted to the Relief Fund of the Society. All the arrangements for a good time have been completed by the committee, and the day will be a gala one. Everybody should go.

Monday's Auction Sale. On Monday Mark Ezekiel will hold the big auction sale of "furniture." By reference to our advertising columns the reader will see a partial list of the many articles to be sold by this popular auctioneer on Monday, at residence 1018 Adeline street. Don't forget it, for there will be splendid chances to buy furniture cheap.

A Rich Man Kills Himself. Wm. B. Bourn, of San Francisco, and the person who purchased the Rod Gibbons property at Center street Station, Oakland, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at his residence in the city, by shooting himself through the head with a pistol. He was very foolish to do such a thing at this stage of the game. He was sixty-five years of age. A few more years would have let him out anyway, and he had the means to make himself comfortable.

Children Lost. Our readers are referred to an advertisement under New To-Day, of two boys that are as yet missing. The affair is certainly mysterious, and brings home the stories about child-stealing in Philadelphia, so extensively indulged in by the press of late. Captain Tarbett informed us about noon, that he was going out on a reconnaissance in quest of some gypsies that have been hovering about Oakland Point, thinking that they may know something of the missing youngsters.

Young Married Couples. Who contemplate housekeeping; old married folks who have worn out their old furniture and want new; young bachelors who are fitting up a cosy room "back of the office or store;" old bachelors who are tired of a lonely life and contemplate taking a feminine partner into their business; one and all who need first class work, good substantial furniture that will wear, call on Wilbert & Shellenbass, Twelfth street, near city market, Oakland.

EXTENSIVE EQUALIZING.

Assessments Cut Down in Some Instances Three-Fourths.

The Board of Equalization has been holding forth at the county seat off and on for a fortnight. Next Monday the last of their sittings, for this year, will be held, and if the following action regarding Oakland and Brooklyn townships be not great exceptions, it was well for everybody having taxes to pay, to rush up at once.

The case of the Water Front Company—reduced from $400,000 to $100,000—is rather suggestive, in view of harbor improvements, etc. There is a wide difference of opinion between the Assessor and the Supervisor, somehow:

OAKLAND CITY AND TOWNSHIP. John H. Hite, reduced from $29 50 to $22 50; Geo. Gray, reduced from $12,000 to $7,000; Jas. Brown, improvements reduced from $16,000 to $4,500; J. V. Webster, reduced from $13,500 to $10,000; Mary Canning, reduced from $24,000 to $22,000; Oakland Water Front Company, reduced from $400,000 to $100,000; S. E. Alden, plat 48, reduced from $15,000 to $13,000; plat 96, from $12,000 to $11,250; plat 45, from $53,900 to $34,100; plats 92 and 35, from $84,800 to $74,200; G. B. Emerson, improvements reduced from $3,000 to $2,000; D. C. Gaskill, on seventeen-acre tract, reduced from $8,500 to $1,600; on three-acre tract, from $2,200 to $1,800; Seligman reduced from $1,350 to $800; improvements from $1,200 to $600; J. Becht on Mrs. B. McDougall and Mrs. M. S. Silbert, reduced from $2,600 to $2,175; First Congregational Church reduced from $10,000 to $8,000; Pacific Theological Seminary reduced from $18,950 to $16,000; F. Coggeshall, reduced from $30,000 to $25,500; Wm. H. Piske reduced from $2,800 to $2,300; on improvement $2,500 to $2,000.

BROOKLYN TOWNSHIP. John B. Watson reduced from $6,000 to $4,000; N. H. Ladd, reduced from $52,525 to $38,200; Mrs. E. Peralta, reduced $5,000 to $3,500; Frank Silva reduced from $10,200 to $8,500; Chris. Bagge reduced $1,700; Isaac Hyde, reduced on a tract from $3,500 to $2,800; J. C. Risdon, reduced from $25,000 to $22,500; Eldridge & Varney, reduced from $19,800 to $14,000; Divinity Church, reduced from $6,000 to $4,000; John Mathews, on eighteen-acre tract reduced from $2,875 to $2,160; on twenty-one acre tract from $3,350 to $2,520.

COUNTY SCHOOL CENSUS.

Report of the School Superintendent of Alameda County for 1874.

Yesterday afternoon we caught Mr. Lynch in his office at county seat, and in the act of figuring up the number of children in this county eligible for school purposes, and we made a synopsis of his report to the State Superintendent.

Number of white children between the ages of five and seventeen—boys, 4042; girls, 4086; total, 8108. Colored—boys, 33; girls, 48; total, 81. Total number of Indian children, 11.

Total number of children of all kinds under five years of age, 4191, making a total under seventeen of 12,299.

The number of children between five and seventeen who have attended public schools the past year, 5532. The number who have attended private schools, 694. The number that have not attended any schools, 1973.

The number of Mongolian children under seventeen, 246; between five and seventeen attending school, 8.

Children of native born parents, 5253; native born, with one parent foreign born, 1198; native born children, both parents foreign, 5009; foreign born children, 342.

The increase of children between five and seventeen during the past year, is about 2900 in Alameda county.

Lover's Retreat.

Lake Merritt is a convenient retreat for the love-sick swains of this delectable city. Not the bottom of the lake, but its placid bosom—upon whose surface, each moon-blight eve, from 8 to 10, may be heard the gentle dip of the oar, the splashing of the water, and the low, soft whispers of love, interspersed with an occasional expression of feeling by the usual amount of cooing and kissing. C! ye gods! Kissing by moonlight on Lake Merritt! Can anything more romantic be dreamed of?

"A moonlight ride 'O'er the boundless tide" Is in itself beatific; but to be there, all alone by one's self, and his sweet heart with him—there, his nothing like it in Lallah Rookh, Minnie ha! ha! or in Dandy Doane. And then, sometimes the sweet strains of the guitar, flute, or flutina thrill the hearts of the lovers, and echo back upon the ambient air their own soul-thrills of ecstatic bliss. What would Oakland be without Lake Merritt? A howling wilderness—fit habitation for the owls and bats. Let us be thankful, then, and give praise to Dr. Samuel Merritt for giving us this lake.

Point Railroad Matters.

We took a look at the railroad improvements under way at the Point yesterday afternoon. In addition to the rapidly completing ways for boat-building, we discovered some men clearing off a foundation for a new blacksmith shop, of considerable proportions, back of the machine shop. A week or two more will see brick times on that portion of the Point.

Letter Delivery.

Any person desiring to have their mail matter delivered at their residences will be promptly served twice a day at twenty-five cents a month, after the 1st of August. Leave orders in letter box, in Post-office Hall.

ADVERTISING RUN MAD.

An Imperial Edict Wanted.

We like advertising—in short, it is our stronghold; but the sight of Twelfth street bridge yesterday rather turned our stomach.

We believe in painting, too, but unless a fence or wall be entirely covered with the article, the object of painting will be lost.

The Long Wharf bridge of the railroad company is a thing of beauty and continued interest, but there is room for more. Pianos and parlor organs take notice.

Twelfth street bridge is monopolized. If the City Council doesn't pass an ordinance and the police enforce it, to prevent this overwhelming reign (deluge) of whitewash, the town will be the laughing-stock of the age. Why, the new sewer will be invaded by these devils with the brush and pot. We are not personal, as no member of that body (the Council are not devils) could think of whitewashing the sewer; those knotholes, especially.

We cannot look to the Supervisors for relief, for they have art on the brain. They would hang the banners on the outer as well as the inner walls, in their present state of mind.

We want Grant elected for a third or fourth term, and a personal and parental government established that will look into all these nuisances through a lunatic house. In Russia, no man can publish an advertisement without permit from the police, and no newspaper is permitted to print such injurious and indecent quick journalism as disgrace American journalism. (Our local press excepted.)

About one-half of the American papers are too large for their patronage, and thus fill their columns with stereotyped stuff for the benefit of quacks alone.

Quack drive is indulged by editorial idiots now-a-days about the so-called Congressional press-gag law. Now, there is the greatest need in the world for a sweeping press-gag law on the matter in question. All sorts of evils are inflicted upon the unsuspecting by advertisements of nostrums, swindling enterprises and cure-all dodges.

Rocks, trees, fences, walls, monuments and even the pavements under foot are made a crying nuisance all over the land. Nothing short of "Grant and the Empire" will reach the case.

THE UNIVERSITY.

Eight Lecturers to be Appointed on Agriculture.

The Regents of the University held a meeting on Thursday. William Ashburner was appointed Professor of Mining.

It was decided to appoint eight lecturers on topics relating to Agriculture, four to be chosen from California, who are best acquainted with local vegetation and culture, and four from eminent scientific men connected with the best agricultural schools elsewhere in the United States.

Upon the recommendation of the Faculty it was decided to make two study terms in the year—the first of nineteen weeks, the second of twenty-one weeks—giving a Winter vacation of three weeks, and a Summer vacation of nine weeks. The first term will end the Wednesday before Christmas. Commencement to be in the first part of June.

The committee on the sale of the Brayton property, in Oakland, reported progress, and was authorized to proceed with such arrangements for the sale as may be best for the public good.

The contract having been let to George W. Babcock for the construction of eight cottages, two for young lady students, and six for young men, the work will be commenced in a few days.

Madame Martelle.

Madame Martelle will give what she calls a hodge-podge entertainment at Brayton Hall on Monday evening next. The Madam has been exceedingly successful as a lecturer. One cause of her success is the fine appearance of the lady-maker on the platform. She is, physically, a handsome lady, and the Tamers hesitate not to say so. Then the subject-matter of her lecture is of a nature which can not help but be interesting as well as entertaining. She takes a very sensible and comprehensive view of the everlasting "Woman Question," and treats it in all its bearings in an eloquent and argumentative manner. She believes in the equality of the sexes; pleads for the working women earnestly, and maintains that a sin committed by a woman is a no more grievous fault than if committed by a man. She insists that upon the proper physical education and development of woman—the mother of the race—depends the stability of the republic, the permanency of the social structure, and the progress and development of the intellectual and moral world. And she invites the ladies of Oakland especially to come to Brayton Hall on Monday evening and hear her on these vital questions. She will sing and play. She will talk of Local Option, its evils and good, its defects and perfections, and advise this local-option-ridden community just what disposition to make of this perplexing question. Her lectures are versatile, spicy, humorous as well as grave, interesting, amusing and entertaining. The low price at which admission is fixed will prevent none from attending, and we hope to see Brayton Hall crowded to overflowing on Monday evening. There are no reserved seats.

New Photographic Gallery.

Messrs. Dunham & Lathrop's beautiful new Art Gallery, on the west side of Broadway, between 13th and 14th streets, is now open to the public. Every style of work known in the profession, executed in the best manner and at reasonable rates. Special attention given to children's pictures, and lockets worn, copying and enlarging of old pictures, etc.

THOSE MAPS.

Sacred to the Memory.

We have already made mention of the $7,500 worth of maps adopted and sanctified by that immortal Board of Supervisors. On the eastern wall of the room occupied by that body at the county seat, there is a tremendous work of art—the mother of scores of smaller works of art. Art by wholesale and retail.

The large map of Alameda contains a sort of biographical, geographical and epigraphical history of the Board of Supervisors, for which the county pays the nice little sum of $7,500. A competent judge of the correctness of the map otherwise, remarked in our hearing yesterday that it ought to be styled "a compilation of errors," and that altogether at $2,500.

Speaking of epigraphs, there was a large coffin-like looking box observed in that room aforesaid yesterday, very suggestive of an early funeral. The box had lately arrived, and was said to contain a map for each county official. Whether it means that these maps are to remain heirlooms in the families of the present officials, or be turned over to their successors in office, we could not learn. There is nothing apparently to prevent that body—the Board of Supervisors—from doing anything with the people's money, it seems fit. While they are at it, they should have their photographs inserted in the big map at least. It will be incomplete without.

But we are too fast. Those tablets read more as though this body were not born to die at all: that it will remain in power perpetually. The taxpayer's attention is called to these exquisite works of art, provided for so kindly on the part of those old masters of municipal jobbery. They may prove a fitting political winding sheet for the entire official ring.

Eight Street Drive.

One of the most delightful avenues for the exercise of horse-flesh, the inhaling of fresh air and enjoyment of suburban scenery, is on Eighth street, from Broadway through to the Point. The property owners along this avenue, up east to Adeline street, a year or so ago planted either side with young poplars, which are all flourishing handsomely. In a very few years they will form a contiguity of shade, hardly surpassed by the celebrated Alameda of Santa Clara, and even at present, these graceful trees lend already an air of improvement to the unsettled region west of Adeline, worthy of imitation elsewhere in the town and county. Why is not San Pablo avenue planted with trees of some kind? Property owners on that interesting thoroughfare must be dead or as deeply asleep as Rip Van Winkle, else this would have been done years ago. Telegraph avenue needs a little more attention on this score also.

Republicans Not Always Ungrateful.

Hon. Frank Page has, during the last session of Congress, been instrumental in securing the passage of several bills and appropriations in the interests of Oakland. He is now an honored guest of the city, and the people and officers there are trying to prove their lively appreciation of his efforts in their behalf. He has been feasted, toasted, serenaded and generally congratulated. Mr. Page has made an able and efficient representative, and we are confident his justly justified the expectations of his friends. For a party member, he has been remarkably successful in securing the passage of such measures as he favored. It is a gratifying circumstance to see his constituents manifest their appreciation. It is an encouragement to officers to know it, and if honest work and rigid integrity is expected of them, that is the surest way to accomplish the desired result.—Nevada Transcript, July 24.

Dennis Jordan.

Is not one of the young men lately lost from this community. He has been missing for a week or so. Detective Rand is on the lookout for him, however, and it is thought that by next Monday night, either Dennis or some definite account of his whereabouts, will be forthcoming. If not, why not?

Police Court.

The case of Sam Sing versus Martin Murphy, Welch and Priestly, on charge of assault and robbery was under way when the paper went to press. Welch and Priestly were discharged, the plaintiff having failed to prove enough to hold them. Young Frank Tiedle was acting as interpreter. He seemed to enjoy it much.

Chinaman Stabbed.

An inhabitant of Chinatown, on the North side of Oakland, was stabbed in the breast last night in a dangerous manner. The officers have been actively at work trying to ascertain the author of the deed, but up to one o'clock to-day nothing had been heard of the guilty person.

Chemical Name.

Ashburner, for mining professor in the University.

Ethan Allen, the famous trotting stallion, was sold recently in Kansas for $3,200.

The work of arching the Hoosac tunnel is well under way and progressing finely.

They sell land in the region of Lake George not by the acre but by the island.

There are now five vessels in Baltimore, Md., loading with tobacco for Europe.

John Lane, of Omaha, is so tall that he can seize hold of a bar placed twelve feet high.

A vein of coal twenty-two inches thick has been discovered near Louisville, Kan.

A Lebanon Ky. gent, in ardently greeting a long-parted wife, broke one of her ribs.

From the San Diego Herald.

We listened last evening to an able and very thorough poetic lecture on the subject, "From whence do we come? Whither do we go?" Mme. Martelle evidently understands how to make a subject interesting to a general audience. She tackled skillfully on many questions of the day, taught the lesson of "Minding your own business" in a very pleasant manner. She told a dramatic story, bearing on the woman question, with pathos and power; and while demanding "equality for the sexes" makes it in such a pleasing way, she demands you believe she asked a favor. The only fault we heard of was the lecture was too short.
